DON'T GET SUCKED IN,
SEATTLE

- BLACK HOLE ON OUR WATERFRONT

Seattle Initiative 123 is a largely undefined, poorly thought-out mess masquerading as a "plan" to replace the Viaduct with some kind of massive elevated structure from Pike Place Market to Century Link Field.

- UNELECTED, UNACCOUNTABLE BOARD

I-123 empowers an unelected board — much like the disastrous monorail board that wasted millions in tax dollars and built nothing. Incredibly, I-123's sponsors also wrote their own names into the ordinance as board members. Then they gave themselves the power to appoint their friends and allies, too.

- DRAINS VITAL CITY SERVICES

I-123 is a dangerous trap for Seattle taxpayers. It doesn't include cost estimates or even a funding source. But it does legally obligate that the city pay for it — whatever the cost. The funds could be sucked up from the city's general fund — putting at risk public safety, affordable housing and other vital city services.

- BLOCKS YEARS OF PUBLIC INPUT

I-123 undermines the current plan for a new revitalized, accessible and vibrant waterfront and an environmentally responsible park. I-123 undoes years of public input that went into the plan — an open process that included thousands of Seattleites.

"I-123 is a half-baked non-plan that has had no meaningful public input"
